FARSE HELD TO HIGHER COURT. Must Answer for Alleged Assault Upon Ora F. Paige.

Ogden, July 7 .- Lauritz Farse of Salt Lake City, will have to answer to the Second district court before Judge Howell to the charge of assault with to commit murder on Oro F Paige, June 24. The preliminary hearing occupied all yesterday afternoon before Municipal Judge Murphy. The witnesses examined being Dr. J. S. Gordon and the defendant for crossexamination. Dr. Gordon testified to being called to the sheriff's office on the Sunday evening to dress the wound on Paige's head. He found a wound about two inches long on the back of his head, cut to the bone, the wound had the appearance of having been made by a blow from something blunt, it might have been made by a rock.

The defendant was put through a cross-examination by Dist Atty Halverson, but maintained to the last that he did not strike Paige, but that in their quarrel over Paige having writtes his wife the letter asking her to meet him in Ogden they clinched and both rolled down the mountain The court, however, took the view that his having invited Paige to go up Ogden canyon with him and of his animosity towards him, that the evidence was sufficient to bind him over to answer to the same to the higher court, but he reduced the bond from $1,500 to which amount Fares hopes to be able to furnish.

CHARLES TOONE HURT. Skull Fractured by Flying Rock From A Quarry Blast.

Ogden, July 9 .- Charles Toone, about 40 years of age, and a resident of Morgan county, was brought to Ogden yesterday and taken to the Ogden general hospital, in a very precarious condition to be operated on for fracture of the skull.

Mr. Toone was employed at the rock quarries in Morgan county getting out large rock for building purposes. He and several other employes placed an unusually heavy blast of powder into the rock to loosen it from the mountain side and then after setting the fuse on fire they ran about a hundred yards away, thinking they were safely out of danger from the pieces of rock that might fly from the force of the blast, but unfortunately a piece of stone about the size of a man's fet came with great force and struck Mr. Tone over his right eye, crushing in his skull badly. His fellow workmen picked him up in an unconscious condition, but he soon regained consciousand with his wife, father and brother, was brought to Ogden. Drs. Rich and Osgood had him taken to the hospital immediately on the arrival of the train and operated on him removing a large piece of his skull. He rallied from the operation very quickly and rested quite easy last night. He has good vitality and physicians have hope of his recovery, although his condition is critical. CITY SCHOOL BOARD.

The question of adopting a military system in the public schools of Ogden was laid before the board of education President R. F. Joyce last evening. President Joyce stated that Captain Kneass of company E could be secured to instruct the pupils in military tactics at a nominal fee. It was stated that in this way the pupils of the different schools could work their way into the gymnasium of the two armories now being erected in Ogden. The matter of uniforms would be optional and left with the students. Mr. Joyce was intructed to confer with the state authorities and ascertain what arrange-

Judge Howell heard the case of F L. Keller against the Oregon Short Line, suit on appeal from the justice's court, and after the introduction of the testimony of the prosecution, attorneys for the defense moved the court for peremptory instructions to the jury to bring in a verdict of no cause of action, which motion was granted. The suit was brought to recover $150 alleged to be due for the killing of a horse belong-ing to Mr. Keller by the railroad com-pany's locomotive. The testimony in-dicated that the railroad company had put a fence up along its track, but that it had been broken down and plaintiff's horse got on the track and was killed. However, the railroad company was not notified by plaintiff or anyone else that the fence was down, and therefore could not be held responsible for the horse being killed.

ANCIENT IRRIGATING SYSTEMS OF NEW MEXICO

Discoveries were recently made in the ava beds of New Mexico, which prove that thousands of years ago there existed in New Mexico a system of reservoirs, irrigation and viaducts that is unparalleled at this age.

Under the lava which covers hundreds of square miles are found traces of cement ditches and reservoirs that are marvels of civil engineering. Our irrigation engineers have much to learn race, who inhabited New Mexico when the race from which Columbus sprang were still barbarians. The ancients provided against seepage by cementing the bottoms of their ditches wherever they were conducted across loose soils. Their ditches wound in and out at the base of mountain ranges, following the sinuosities of canyons and rounding points in such a manner as to catch ali the storm water before it was absorbed by the loose sands at the mountain's

Reservoirs at convenient basins water which was led in cemented ditches across the loose soil o where it was needed for use. Chasms were crossed by viaducts and wonderful engineering devices were used for the removal of silt that might be used as an aid to the fertility of loose and rocky soils, otherwise valueless. some of the ditches lava has run, show ing their great antiquity. Others are now covered with shifting sands, but enough are still visible in many places to enable the skilled engineer to understand the system which prehistoric New Mexicans rendered so effective.

In those days the deserts bloomed like a garden, and a civilized race of millions occupied the arid southwest. If Congress desires to aid the work of reclaiming our arid lands, it can do it no more effectively than by sending out a competent engineering force to study the few remains yet left of the vast irrigation system of the most ancient inhabitants of this country, enough of which are still visible to teach valu-able lessons of water conservation.-Rural Californian,

John was well fitted to assist his mother with the task, he was a large, strong boy for his age; all thoughts of education was abandoned and he put his shoulder it the wheel laboring, tolling year in any year out until the task of rearing the young family was accomplished. It was in the early sixtles be first heard "Mormonism" preached in his native town. Having fully investigated the new faith he embraced it. About the same time he married Miss Eleanor Walker, who bore him two children, Mrs. Thomas Hean, of Poplar Grove, Salt Lake City, being his only child now living. In November, 1872, he emigrated to Utah, having fortsaken his native land and kindred for his love of the Gospel of Christ. The family resided at $14 south Fifth East street, this city, until 1865, when his beloved wife died. He later married Mary Ann Greensides, widow of Henry Greensides, spending his last days where he finally succumbed to erysipelas, at 11 south Second East street. For many years John Long was employed in the shipping and storage departments of Z. C. M. L. where he was familiarly known as "honest John Long." Many will miss him for his kindness at all seasons was preverbal. No one ever asked a tavor of him in vain, and none ever left his doer hungry. He delighted in doing good to all.
